

VISIT MENDOCINO

INSIDE THE MAGIC
A GUIDE TO MENDOCINO COUNTY

Magic is Real in Mendocino County!

Discover a place with rolling hills, deep valleys, ancient redwoods, miles of coastline and hundreds of paths to explore. Nature enchants in Mendocino County, with numerous state parks, winding rivers and fairy circles tucked into the forest. Wining and dining is also a delight with award winning wineries and world class eateries, including a Michelin starred restaurant. Not to be excluded are world class breweries, cideries, distilleries and cannabis farms. For makers, Mendocino County is teeming with creativity—fine arts and crafts, film and poetry, music and dance, and more. We have incredible places and spaces—both indoor and out—for life's celebrations and boardroom retreats. Our history is rich as we celebrate our indigenous communities, our farm-to-fork sensibilities—before it was a trend—and our ethos of sustainability. We welcome you and your pets in our dog-friendly lodging properties, cafés and attractions. Discover Mendocino County, where magic is real.

The county's large geographical area is broadly divided into distinct regions, each with their own unique characteristics and commonalities found in fine dining, outdoor recreation and experiences.

Tribal Land Acknowledgement

Mendocino County is home to numerous Native American Tribes who continue to care for this beautiful place as they have since the beginning of time. Visit Mendocino County acknowledges the Northern Pomo, Coastal Pomo, Cahto, and Yuki Peoples as the original caretakers of these lands who represent an essential heritage in our region. In acknowledgment of this heritage, we work to protect this extraordinary place by promoting respectful, conscientious, and sustainable travel and tourism.

Heartland

Heartland

Lush vineyards, small farms and horse trails along with rivers, valleys, mountains and Lake Mendocino comprise the heartland of Mendocino County. Discover the rich and at times heartbreaking history as you explore the area—from the far reaches of Round Valley to the ranching communities along Highway 101, from The Peg House in Leggett to the southernmost hamlet of Hopland. Interesting and unusual landmarks and attractions create a memorable experience.

Covelo / Round Valley

Covelo is a beautiful, wide-open valley in the northeast corner of Mendocino County. Covelo is the community in the midst of the Round Valley Indian Reservation. Aside from farms, Round Valley is known for their annual Blackberry Festival in August. Covelo has its own radio station, a wonderful community library and natural beauty that belies a troubling history.

Hopland

The southern inland gateway to Mendocino County, Hopland is the perfect place to take a break and see some sights. The friendly town is home to wineries, restaurants, a tap room, olive mill, a refurbished historic hotel, a sanctuary for donkeys and more. Take the road less traveled to Ukiah on Old River Road, the original state highway that follows the twists and turns of the Russian River. The river provides recreation in the form of beaches, swimming holes and, with some planning, a float downstream. Or pop over Mountain House Road to Yorkville and Anderson Valley. Take in one of the annual events in Hopland—with a few benefiting the local fire department.

Laytonville

This pioneer community is known for farming, music and an important Native American history with the Cahto tribe. Their famed music venue, Black Oak Ranch, welcomes music lovers from all over with multi-day concerts and camping opportunities at this family friendly venue. The Laytonville farming community includes the venerated Emerald Triangle with local farms garnering national accolades.

Leggett

The town of Leggett reflects the logging history of the region. The area is home to some of the largest trees in the world, which you can see at Standish-Hickey Recreation Area and at Smithe Redwoods State Natural Reserve with its 60-foot waterfall, picnic area, and fishing and swimming in the south fork of the Eel River. Leggett is where you can leave Highway 101 to intersect with Highway 1 and follow the winding highway to the coast. On your way, stop in and scoot through the Chandelier Drive-Thru Tree, which has been a stop for travelers since the 1930s.

While in Leggett, take a step back in time to visit roadside attractions like Confusion Hill and the World-Famous Tree House.

VIAN DELER
TREET

Redwood Valley

Initially named because of its majestic redwood groves, Redwood Valley sits between Ukiah and Willits, and has a rich history beginning with the Pomo Tribe of the Redwood Valley Rancheria. Acres of vineyards have since replaced the groves, as the cooler climate affords a lush wine region. One of the claims to fame of Redwood Valley is that it's home to the first organic and biodynamic winery in the US. In addition to wineries, Redwood Valley has an event center, an award-winning distillery, a classic old school steakhouse and a recently built 99-room hotel adjacent to the Coyote Valley Casino. Nearby communities include Calpella and Potter Valley, which hosts an annual rodeo.

Ukiah

Thanks to tree-shaded streets, an inviting downtown, and a vibrant cultural life, Ukiah was once named California's best small town—and the sixth best in the entire country. The largest city in Mendocino County, Ukiah is home to Victorian architecture, a spectacular springtime display of dogwood trees that blanket the Westside, and a distinctive laid-back vibe. For a taste of the past, saunter over to the Grace Hudson Museum for a tour of the Sun House, a stunning 1911 craftsman bungalow offering an inside look into the life and work of artist Grace Carpenter Hudson.

Hike and bike up a storm on a host of trails in the western hills and Ukiah's cycle-friendly streets. Golfers can try for a birdie at an 18-hole golf course, ideal for beginners and seasoned players. Follow the signs to Lake Mendocino for more outdoor recreation or take a trek to the City of 10,000 Buddhas for some spiritual renewal. Discover the Ukiah Rail Trail—a portion of the Great Redwood Trail which spans 320 miles and is an active project connecting San Francisco and Humboldt Bays. Ukiah also includes a designated Visit California Welcome Center.

Willits

Nestled in Little Lake Valley, Willits is considered the “Heart of Mendocino County” and their city sign straddling Main Street welcomes you to “The Gateway to the Redwoods”.

Entering Willits from the south you will find such traveler's necessities as motels, gas stations, auto shops, and supermarkets. But just north of Highway 20, the route to the coast, lies downtown, the Skunk Train Depot, Mendocino County Museum, the local brewery and many of Willits' small-town charms. Willits is also home to the longest, continuously running professional rodeo that happens during their annual Frontier Days Festival leading into July 4th celebrations.

Forest

Forest

Mendocino County is filled with wondrous groves of old-growth redwoods and wooded areas that line the rivers, winding their way through the county. Head to the forest (over 500,000 acres) and bask in the cathedral-like setting created by the redwood behemoths or take a summertime float on the Navarro River as it snakes through Anderson Valley.

Boonville

Founded in 1862, Boonville is the “bahlest” town in the county located in bucolic Anderson Valley, home to world-class Pinot Noirs and Alsace varietals, great beer at the solar-powered Anderson Valley Brewing Company, and plenty of sheep. While you’re here, brush up on your Boontling in order to converse with the locals. Boontling is the jargon invented when the area was an isolated community to keep bright-lighters* and fog-eaters* in the dark!

 Those are city folk and coast-dwellers!*

Philo

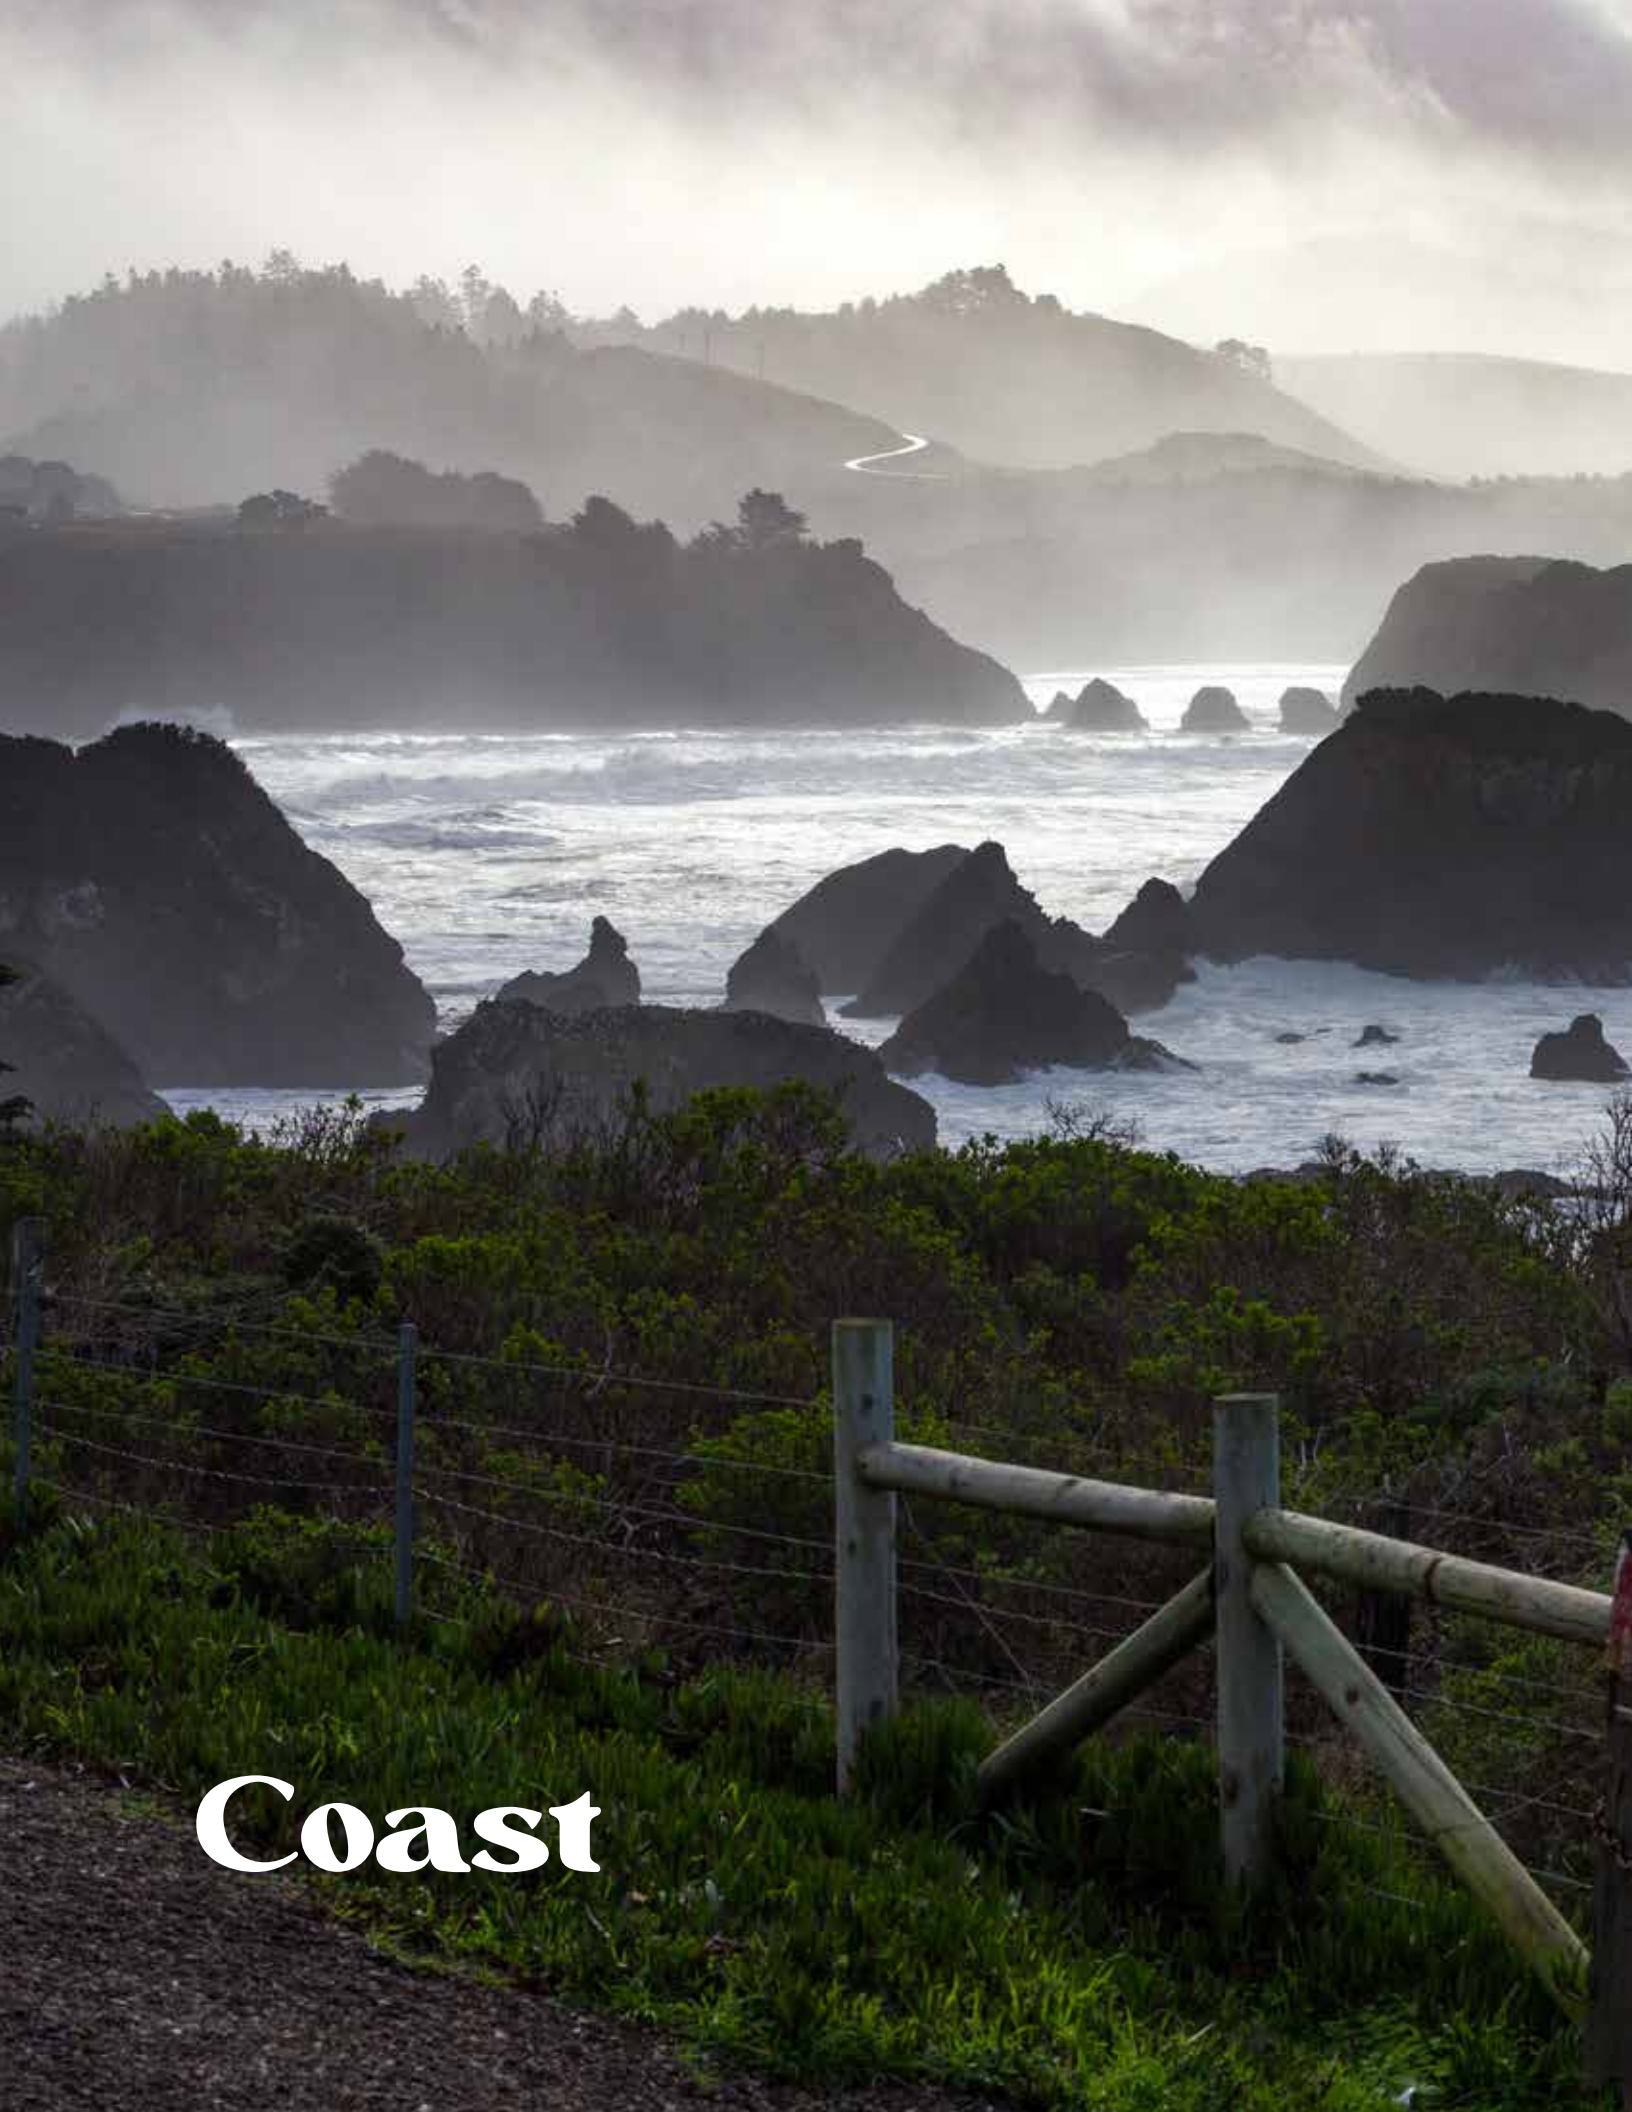

If you blink, you might miss the tiny town of Philo located in the very heart of Anderson Valley. The town might be small (pop. 349) but it’s the center of great wine tasting and intriguing lodging options. The nexus of “downtown” is Lemon’s Market, a mainstay for over 40 years. Home to Hendy Woods, the wandering Navarro River and groves of giant trees make Philo a must-see stop on your journey through beautiful Anderson Valley.

Yorkville

Fifteen serpentine miles beyond Cloverdale, and you’re in the picturesque Yorkville Highlands. The Yorkville Highlands appellation consists of approximately 40,000 acres straddling Highway 128 between the Alexander Valley to the southeast and Anderson Valley to the Northwest. Four wine tastings rooms make this area a great place to stop as you enter the county on Highway 128.

Coast

Coast

Rugged, wild and unequivocally scenic, the Mendocino County coastline dazzles, offering multiple places to turn out, tune out and enjoy the view. From the serene Gualala River at the southernmost end of the county to the towering mountains of the Lost Coast to the north, and everywhere in between, the coastal region invites you to revel in its landscape and history. Our charming communities along this sinuous stretch of coastline and highway are sometimes shrouded by a fine layer of ocean fog and other times crystal clear. A bevy of B&Bs and inns offer appealing experiences for couples in search of a quiet getaway, while families feel at home at a vacation rental, kid-friendly hotel/motel or campgrounds—many of which are dog and/or cannabis friendly.

Albion

Once a thriving logging “doghole” port on the coast, Albion teemed with activity from the late 1800s into the early part of the 20th century. At low tide, you can still see remnants of the 1,200-foot-long railroad that stretched out into Albion Bay. Nowadays, the village has just 153 inhabitants, some of whom live in the two lanes of original houses perched above the south side of the Albion River.

On the north side of the iconic Albion River Bridge—the only wooden trestle bridge remaining on Highway 1—drive down to the beach and check out the bridge close up. The bridge is 1,000 feet long, stands 170 feet high and, in 2017, was placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Caspar

Bounded on three sides by state parks, Caspar is home to the 1909 Point Cabrillo Light Station to the south, Jug Handle State Natural Reserve to the north, and its coast forms Caspar Headlands State Beach. The Caspar Community Center is the hub of the area where weddings, concerts, breakfasts, farmers markets and other events are staged. Caspar is nearly mid-way between Fort Bragg and Mendocino.

Elk

Head south from Albion on Highway 1 crossing the Navarro River at its mouth and you’ll enter the bustling metropolis of Elk (pop. 208). This tiny town actually has two names: Greenwood and Elk. The moniker of Greenwood originated with the four brothers who founded the settlement around 1852. However, when the town grew large enough to need a post office in 1887, they discovered the name had already been taken. A herd of local elk provided the inspiration for a new name and so the town became Elk. Today, a sign hangs near the old post office door that reads “Elk Post Office, Greenwood, California.”

Watch for whales from the cliff tops above Greenwood State Beach, cruise the two cemeteries in town, drink in the views of Cuffey’s Cove, and take a history lesson at the museum.

Fort Bragg

The biggest little city on the Mendocino coast, Fort Bragg is home to the world-famous Skunk Train line with its trains and railbikes. Enjoy plenty of ocean views from the Noyo Headlands Trail that stretches the entire length of the town. At the spectacular Mendocino Coast Botanical Gardens, trails wind through 47 breathtaking acres of flora, native forests, and wildflowers. Some of its rhododendrons are more than 20 feet tall.

A one-time lumber company thoroughway, the Old Haul Road starts at Pudding Creek Bridge and runs north to Ten Mile River in MacKerricher State Park, passing Lake Cleone, tidepools, and basking seals. Just east of Fort Bragg, 50,000-acre Jackson Demonstration State Forest boasts groves of old-growth redwoods, as well as interpretive walks and miles of trails.

Downtown Fort Bragg bustles with specialty retail shops and boutiques, and restaurants to suit all tastes and budgets, plus three breweries including award winning North Coast Brewing Company. Noyo Harbor is a working port with a marina where sport fishing boats and whale-watching cruises head out to sea, or take a leisurely ride upstream on Noyo River where wildlife abounds. Enjoy dining in or above the harbor area where playful seals poke their snouts above the water and bask on the docks.

Gualala

Gualala (pronounced wah-LA-la), on Highway 1, is the southern gateway to Mendocino County just over the Gualala River from The Sea Ranch in Sonoma County. The town is home to the Gualala Arts Center, which hosts art exhibits, music events, and fairs and festivals year-round in the lush grounds. Gualala Point Regional Park provides recreation opportunities such as rafting and kayaking. The town, and surrounding areas, is dotted with outstanding restaurants, galleries, and lodging.

Irish Beach

Irish Beach is a bedroom community offering a plethora of vacation rentals for a decidedly home away from home experience. Explore nearby Pomo Lake Park or make a quick jaunt to the south to visit Gualala, which is less than five miles away. Drive a few miles north and Point Arena and the pier offer a fun day trip experience with a brewery, shops, restaurants and terrific attractions.

Little River

This tiny dot on the map a few miles south of Mendocino houses one of the coast's crown jewels, Van Damme State Park, which stretches from the beach back through the lush Fern Canyon to the Pygmy Forest where mature, cone-bearing cypress and pine trees stand just six inches to eight feet tall. The park's ten miles of trails meander along the fern-carpeted canyon of Little River. The beach is popular with divers and the sheltered bay is a great place to kayak through the sea caves in the diverse marine habitat.

Manchester

Droves of driftwood scatter the five-mile arc of the beach expanse at Manchester State Park, where there's opportunity for plenty of outdoor activities. A great way to explore the beach is on horseback with one of Ross Ranch's expert guides.

Mendocino

There's quaint and then there's Mendocino. Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the architecture, water towers, and stunning location evoke the landscape of 19th century New England, and it's no surprise as many of the settlers were from that part of the country.

Every building embodies the village's unique history, with its houses weathered by salt, air, fog, and wind. Gardens filled with lush foliage and bright blooms spill over the weathered fences of superbly maintained houses. Many vintage buildings, including the iconic water towers, have found new life as B&Bs, shops, restaurants, and museums. Founded in 1959, the Mendocino Art Center is a hub for creative expression, drawing visitors and artists from around the world.

The historic red church—with its stained-glass windows still intact—is now Corners of the Mouth, an organic co-op grocery store. And nature is just a step away at Mendocino Headlands State Park where the only sounds are the crashing waves and the flapping wings and calls of seabirds. Big River is Northern California's biggest undeveloped estuary. Explore its 7,334 acres of wetlands and forest in one of Catch-A-Canoe's outriggers or by bicycle along the haul road.

A short drive north leads to Russian Gulch State Park, location of the iconic Frederick W. Panhorst bridge, a blowhole created by a collapsed sea cave, and a 35-foot waterfall.

Point Arena

The smallest incorporated town in the county (pop. 460), Point Arena beckons with their "natural point of view". Home to the 1,665-acre Point Arena-Stornetta Public Lands, which is the only onshore portion of the 1,100-long California Coastal National Monument, Point Arena is also the closest point of land to the Hawaiian Islands. The Point Arena Lighthouse is well worth the 115 foot-climb (145 steps) to the top for the stunning 360-degree views and an interactive docent-led tour. In spring and late fall, this is a great place to spot passing whales on their journey along the great whale highway. Stroll Point Arena's main street to discover eclectic shops, a French patisserie, an Izakaya, a brewery, a historic theater and the African hoof stock at B. Bryan Preserve or head to the wharf for great pizza, seafood and ocean views. Point Arena delights with annual, family-friendly events.

Westport

Situated about 15 miles north of Fort Bragg, Westport is a tiny town with roughly 60 inhabitants and is a great spot to sit and gaze westward and watch the sun sink behind the sea arch just offshore. Camp or hike at Westport-Union Landing State Park with more than three miles of rugged coastline. Travel north on Highway 1 to access the wild and scenic Lost Coast and Sinkyone Wilderness State Park.

Splendid Sips

Splendid Sips

The county's 12 AVAs (American Viticultural Areas)—including Cole Ranch, the smallest appellation in North America and Mendocino Ridge, the country's only non-contiguous appellation—and wineries allow visitors to experience a multitude of wines and winemaking styles with tasting rooms from Hopland to Redwood Valley, along Highway 128 from Yorkville to Philo, and even on the coast a few miles south of the tiny community of Westport.

While the number of wineries and Mendocino County's prominence in the world of wine continue to grow, one thing hasn't changed...the small-town hospitality. Don't be surprised if the person pouring your wine is actually the winemaker or the winery owner! Hear their histories and stories—who doesn't love a good yarn—while learning about local wines from the people who know them best. And you're bound to get some great insider recommendations on things to do and places to eat, as only a local can tell you.

We love our suds in Mendocino County, as evidenced by eight breweries spanning the area, plus restaurants, cafes and pubs offering incredible beer selections. Anderson Valley features the first solar-powered brewery in the country (yes, country!), while Fort Bragg houses three breweries including award-winning and world-renowned North Coast Brewing Company—one of the first craft breweries in the nation. Ukiah boasts the first certified organic brewpub in the country with Ukiah Brewing Company.

Not to be missed, our award-winning distilleries and cideries—talk about crafty! Whatever your libation of choice, you'll find delicious and delightful offerings throughout Mendocino County.

Sip & Savor... Responsibly

From Yorkville, cruise Highway 128 through the beautiful landscape of Anderson Valley. With mountains to the east and west, and the cooling waters of the Navarro River flowing down the middle, the valley provides an ideal climate for growing superlative Pinots, Chardonnays and aromatic Alsace varietals. Tasting rooms abound, some clustered around the small towns while others dot the picturesque countryside. In Boonville, take a “fratty pike” along the main drag... yes, you’re going to have to look that up!

The hub of an active wine region, our heartland (Highway 101) is home to wine tasting rooms and venues that offer not just wine, but olive oil, fine art and furniture, and lots of friendly smiles. Tasting rooms range from elegant Mediterranean estates to a repurposed hop kiln, and from the world’s first carbon-neutral winery to one shaped like an upside-down Champagne glass!

Set above the crashing waves of the Pacific Ocean, one winery tasting room makes its home in an imposing redwood and stone barn structure nestled into the cliffside, protected from the elements by a flat rock bench eroded over eons. On sunny days, the outdoor seating with a natural terrace overlooking the ocean is the stuff of dreams—clear skies, sparkling waters and sights of whale sprays.

Something's a-Brew

Mendocino County loves beer and cider! And if you do too, there's plenty to choose from—from the first organic brewpub in the nation to some of the early pioneers of the microbrew movement to award winning ciders, plus fantastic pubs, pizzerias and restaurants with world-class beer lists. Cheers!

Relax & Recharge

Relax & Recharge

Mendocino County is one of three counties comprising the famed Emerald Triangle—the largest cannabis growing region in the United States. Throughout the years, cannabis from Mendocino has been lauded as some of the best in the world. Today, the culture of high grade, quality craft cannabis continues as evidenced by the multiple award-winning flowers, cannabinoids and extracts from farms and manufacturers around the county.

The culture of cannabis has expanded beyond the industry to include cannabis-friendly lodging, artistic expression of cannabis in museums, galleries and cuisine, and inclusion of cannabis in mainstream events. Craft farmers markets are now a regular occurrence. Visit Mendocino County to discover and experience our heritage cannabis culture.

Farms & Feasts

Farms & Feasts

To truly experience Mendocino County, immerse yourself in the sights and culture. But don't forget—you've got to taste the county too! With its fertile valleys, fishing harbors, and longtime commitment to organic and sustainable farming practices, Mendocino County has emerged as a leading destination for culinary travelers. The farm-to-fork trend has always been part of the ethos in Mendocino County and that's evidenced by the incredible offerings in our restaurants which embrace a taste of place, with locally sourced ingredients. Cruise the restaurant listings on VisitMendocino.com and find the perfect place to have a bountiful brunch, a luscious lunch or a delectable dinner!

When it comes to culinary pursuits, Mendocino County has found itself leading the way. County residents lived the locavore life even before the term existed, and you'll find the freshest fruits and vegetables, meats, and seafood at farm stands and farmers markets around the county.

A photograph of a lush green forest. In the foreground, there is a wooden railing made of dark wood, consisting of a top rail and two vertical posts. The railing runs across the middle of the frame. Behind the railing, the forest is dense with various types of green plants, including ferns and other leafy vegetation. The background is a steep, dark green hillside covered in thick foliage. The overall scene is vibrant and natural.

Parks & Recreation

Mendocino County offers parks & recreation paradise steeped in seclusion. With 24 state and national parks the options for outdoor adventure are endless. Families can journey together with a leisurely walk-through Russian Gulch State Park, waterfall included, or break away with a coastal jaunt to the tide pools, coastal trails or a trek to the more isolated Ten Mile Beach up the coast.

Gain perspective with a Jurassic-style jaunt to Montgomery Woods State Reserve, one of California's most magnificent virgin redwood groves. Step into nature's cathedral for a mind-blowing mix of gigantic spires shooting high in the canopy, past flying buttresses and enormous treetops soaring more than 350 feet. The eye-popping fern forest, flush with a sea of giant green fronds reaching for the sky, taps the imagination. Hit the off-road playground at the Cow Mountain recreation area where you can camp, or traverse 23,000 acres of challenging trails for both motorized and non-motorized off-highway recreation vehicles.

Art-full Mendocino

Art-full Mendocino

The art community in Mendocino County is rich, and encompasses diverse media, from the technical excellence of Native American basket weaving to the unique architecture of the ‘back-to-the-land’ movement of the ‘60s and its consequent influx of artists and craftspeople. Mendocino County continues to attract artists with its dramatic landscapes and relaxed pace of life.

The arts abound in every corner of the county and in every medium: fine arts, dance, film, theater, music, crafts, even circus arts. Fort Bragg is home to a world-class woodworking program with bi-annual exhibitions. Plein Air art shows along the Mendocino Headlands draw a crowd, while two incredible symphonies cover the heartland and the coastline. Both Ukiah and Fort Bragg have delightful mural walk experiences. Often, you’ll find art exhibitions at lodging properties, coffee bars and restaurants, with art events occurring on a weekly basis.

An aerial photograph of a lush, green valley. The landscape is dominated by dense, dark green forests covering rolling hills and a central valley. A small, light-colored stream or path winds through the forest. The lighting is bright, creating strong shadows and highlights on the terrain. The overall scene is vibrant and natural.

Welcome

Paws Welcome

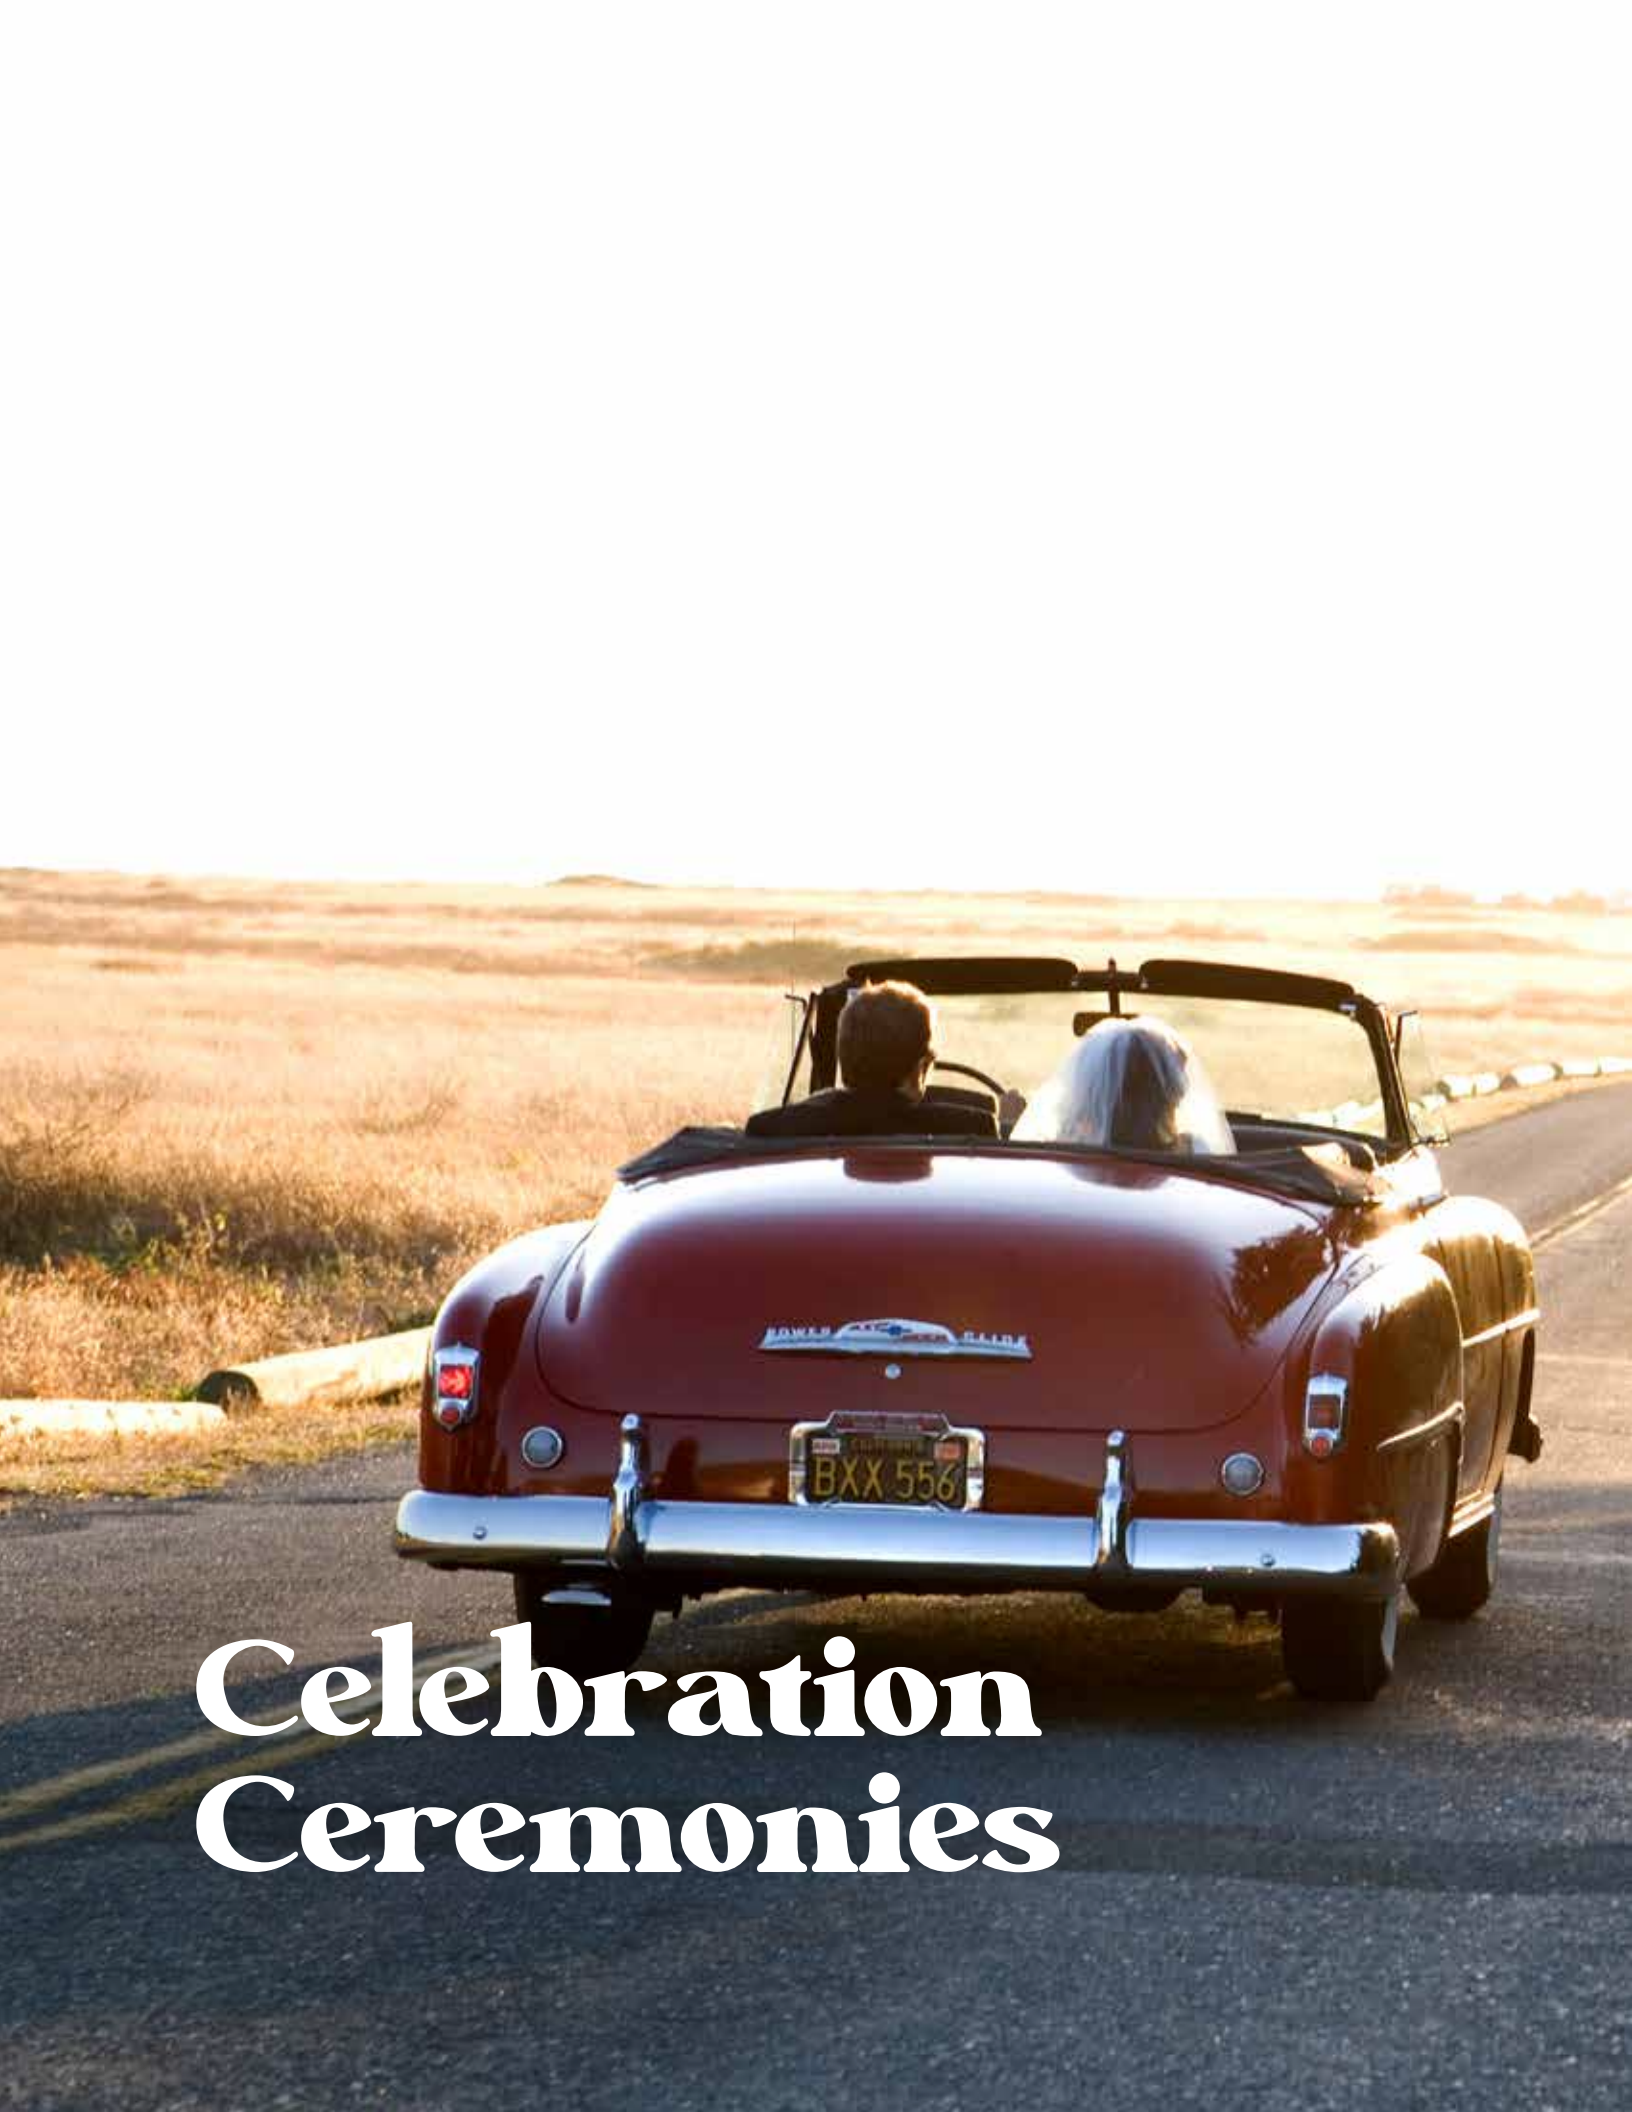

In Mendocino County, the welcome for pets goes far beyond bowls of water outside local businesses. This is a place where virtually all the top experiences—canoe trips, fine dining, wine tasting, and quiet retreats in luxury inns—are as available to your dog as they are to you. Check out VisitMendocino.com/dog-friendly-mendocino/ for more pet friendly places.

Traveling with your pets in Mendocino County does not mean having to settle for less-than-ideal lodging. Your four-legged family members are welcome everywhere from full-service resorts and ocean front hotels to value priced accommodations. Even our attractions roll out the welcome mat for pets, so when you want to go wine tasting or take a railbike trip, bring your buddy along. Just be sure to check which wineries are pet-friendly or require pets be on a leash.

No one likes to leave a pet behind while dining and many restaurants have outdoor decks perfect for meals for the whole family. You'll find several off-leash dog parks and beaches for those dogs that need a little extra exercise.

Celebration Ceremonies

Celebration Ceremonies

You've dreamt of your wedding. In Mendocino County, that dream can become a reality. With our stunning ancient redwood groves, epic coastline, bucolic vineyards and pristine rolling valleys, you have your pick of enchanting venues. Whether destination weddings, intimate elopements, small or large affairs, Mendocino County is a magical wonderland for couples.

Our inns, B&Bs and specialty wedding venues are experts at hosting your day to remember. And many not only offer newlyweds romantic honeymoon stays but also provide the convenience of housing wedding guests on-site for memorable celebrations.

A woman with blonde hair, wearing a blue beanie, a black puffer jacket with pink accents, and blue leggings, is hiking on a forest trail. She is looking upwards and to the right. The forest is dense with tall trees and a ground covered in brown leaves and ferns. The lighting is soft, suggesting a misty or overcast day.

Business as Unusual

Business as Unusual

Mendocino County offers an unusual type of business or small group gathering—intimate and inspirational. Go beyond the four walls and gather in a different setting to gain a new perspective.

We call this the ‘unplug to recharge’ concept whereby a change of scenery invigorates and invites new ideas and passions. Add team building activities like kayaking or cooking classes. Take time to enjoy private wine or whiskey tastings. Experience, reflect, re-energize, repeat.

Sustainable Mendocino

Sustainable Mendocino

Many people are familiar with the “back-to-the-land” movement of the ‘60s; here in Mendocino County, we never left. Rather, we leaned into sustainability and continue to respect the land we call home. We’re known as America’s Greenest Wine region due to the numerous wineries who utilize organic, biodynamic, and fish friendly farming practices. Speaking of, we’re home to the first organic and biodynamic winery in the nation—Frey Vineyards. We also have the world’s first solar powered brewery in Anderson Valley Brewing Company. Our food is grown and harvested locally, foraged from the land and sea. You could say sustainability is “baked” into the ethos of our communities. Taste the difference for yourself.

X Marks the Spot

Let your adventure begin! Mendocino County is an easy day's journey from the Greater Bay Area and Central Valley. Just hop in the car and pick your favorite route. For spectacular ocean vistas, take Highway 1 that winds through tiny seaside towns. Traverse through Gualala, Point Arena, Elk and Albion; keep driving north to visit Little River, Mendocino, Fort Bragg and Westport. Want to get here sooner? U.S. 101 will lead you right into the heart of the county, through cities of Hopland, Ukiah and Willits—with plenty of scenery to admire; and Anderson Valley spanning the heartland to the coastline.

From farther away, fly into Santa Rosa Airport (55 miles), and Oakland or San Francisco airports (each 3 hours' drive). If you fly your own plane, there are places to land throughout the county.
